CTEA Glossary of Key Terms

The California Team Excellence Award (CTEA) Criteria was developed by the California Council for Excellence (CCE) for the California Awards for Performance Excellence (CAPE) Program. CCE retains full ownership of the CTEA Criteria.

The CTEA Criteria are Baldrige-based and adapted from the Baldrige Performance Excellence Program. 2023-2024 Baldrige Excellence Framework: Proven Leadership and Management Practices for High Performance. Gaithersburg, MD: U.S. Department of Commerce, National Institute of Standards and Technology. https://www.nist.gov/baldrige.

Overview

The focus of California Team Excellence Award (CTEA) is to help your team—no matter its size, sector, or industry— answer three questions:

- 1) Is your team performing as well as it could?
- 2) How do you know?
- 3) What and how should your team improve or change?

The CTEA Criteria provides your team with a set of questions designed to assess the effectiveness of your team, its processes, and outcomes. Organizations can use CTEA Criteria to assess either project or process-based teams. By challenging yourself with the questions that make up the CTEA Criteria you explore how you are accomplishing what is important to your team and of course to the project/process on which your team is focused.

Examiners assess the CTEA application against the CTEA Criteria and provide a written Feedback Report identifying strengths as well as opportunities for improvement organized by the seven categories. Your team, senior leaders and any other readers should consider the Feedback Report content in the spirit of continuous improvement.

CTEA applicants are provided the opportunity to share their team's successes and outcomes with other organizations that are interested in learning from your team's accomplishments. Teams may be asked to showcase their demonstrated outcomes during the annual spring conference. Applicants receive recognition for their accomplishments at the annual spring conference awards ceremony.

The questions are divided into six process categories (Categories 1-6) and a results category (Category 7), which represent seven critical aspects of managing and performing as a team. It should be noted that these seven categories are identical to the seven categories of the Baldrige Criteria for Performance Excellence. Thus, for organizations already using Baldrige adopting the CTEA Criteria as the improvement methodology for teams ensures alignment of all the performance initiatives:

- 1. Leadership
- 2. Strategy
- 3. Customers
- 4. Measurement, Analysis, Review, and Knowledge Management
- 5. Workforce
- 6. Operations
- 7. Results

CTEA promotes:

A focus on processes (Categories 1-6). Processes are the methods your team uses to accomplish its work. The CTEA Criteria helps you assess and improve your processes along four dimensions:

- Approach (A): How do you accomplish your team's work? How effective are your key approaches?
- Deployment (D): How consistently are your key approaches used in relevant parts of your team? How does your team share progress and outcomes of the projects being improved in the organization?
- Learning (L): How well have you evaluated and improved your key approaches? How well have improvements been shared within your team and organization, as appropriate? Has new knowledge led to innovation?
- Integration (I): How well do your approaches align with your current and future team needs? How well do your measures, information, and improvement systems complement each other across processes and work units? What value does improving the team project have to other areas of the organization (strategic planning, workforce, customer and/or stakeholder satisfaction/engagement)?

A focus on results (Category 7). The CTEA Criteria leads you to examine your results from three viewpoints:

- The external view (How do your customers and other stakeholders view you?),
- The internal view (How efficient and effective are your team's operations?), and
- The future view (Is your team learning and growing?)

CTEA results include all areas of importance to your team. The CTEA Criteria leads you to evaluate your results from a fact-based data-driven perspective along four dimensions:

- Levels (Le): What is your current performance on a meaningful measurement scale?
- Trends (T): Are the results improving, staying the same, or getting worse over time?
- Comparisons (C): How does your performance compare with that of other similar teams in your organization, or against relevant benchmarks internally/externally?
- Integration (I): Are you tracking results that are important to your team and organization and that consider the expectations and needs of your key stakeholders? Are you using the results in decision-making?

A focus on improvement. The CTEA Criteria helps you understand and assess how well you are accomplishing what is important to your team: how mature and how well deployed your processes are, how good your results are, whether your team is learning and improving, and how well your approaches address your teams' needs. As you respond to the criteria, you will learn more and more about your team and begin to define the best ways to build on your strengths, close gaps, and innovate.

What you can expect...

Application Process

- Submit Intent to Apply by cycle deadline (see table below).
- CCE will confirm receipt of Intent to Apply and send an invoice for the application fee.
- Complete and submit your CTEA Application and Fee by cycle deadline.
  - We recommend a two-column format, with 10-point font minimum. The application is limited to 10 pages plus a PowerPoint file that contains accompanying figures (20 slides maximum). You may add charts or tables within the application as needed to summarize key information.
  - In addition to the 10-pages allotted for your responses to the CTEA questions, you may also include an organization chart and a summary of terms, acronyms and abbreviations that are used within your application. Neither of these counts against the 10-page maximum. The organization chart may help the examiners understand the structure of the applicant team and its organization. The terms, acronyms and abbreviations are provided to clarify information included in your application that would otherwise be unfamiliar to the examiners.
- A team of examiners will be assigned to your application. They will individually assess and then collectively complete a synthesized written Feedback Report based on the information provided in the application and team call. Please note that each examiner working on your application:
  - Signs an affidavit stating he/she has no conflict of interest with your application or organization, and
  - Agrees in writing to maintain the confidentiality of all information provided in your application. As set forth by the Baldrige Program, CAPE follows the highest ethical standards regarding an application's confidentiality, removing any direct or implied conflicts of interest.
- A two-hour virtual call between the applicant and examiners will be scheduled. This occurs after the review of the application is completed by a team of examiners. The applicant has up to one hour to present using the previously submitted PowerPoint presentation. After the applicant's presentation, there will be time for a question-and-answer session between the applicant and the examination team. The application presentation between the applicant and the examination team will occur within two months of application submission.
- Within approximately three months of receipt of your application, you will receive the examination team's Feedback Report.
- After receiving and reviewing the Feedback Report, you may request an Executive Briefing to verify and clarify any points within the report.

Scoring System

Scoring Dimensions

The scoring responses to the CTEA Criteria items is based on two evaluation dimensions: process (categories 1-6) and results (category 7).

Process (Categories 1-6):

Processes are the methods your team uses to accomplish its work. The CTEA criteria helps you assess and improve your processes using four factors: Approach, Deployment, Learning, & Integration (ADLI):

Approach (A), (how you accomplish your team's work) comprises:

- The methods used to carry out the process,
- The appropriateness of these methods to the item requirements and your operating environment,
- The effectiveness of your team's use of the methods, and
- The degree to which the approach is repeatable and based on reliable data and information (i.e., systematic) and

Deployment (D), (how your approach is shared) is the extent to which:

- Your approach addresses item requirements that are relevant and important to your team,
- Your approach is applied consistently, and
- Your approach is used by all appropriate work units.

Learning (L), (how you evaluate and improve your key approaches) comprises:

- The refinement of your approach through cycles of evaluation and improvement,
- The encouragement of breakthrough improvement to your approach through innovation, and
- the sharing of refinements and innovations with other relevant work units and processes in your organization.

Learning is an essential attribute of high-performing teams. Effective, well-deployed learning can help a team improve from the early stages of reacting to problems to the highest levels of improvement, refinement, and innovation. Progression through the maturity levels for this scoring dimension typically includes the following:

• Reacting to the problem

- Learning and strategic improvement
- General improvement orientation

Innovation

• Systematic evaluation and improvement

Integration (I), (the value added by the team's project to other areas of the organization) is the extent to which:

- Your approach is aligned with the teams needs identified in the Team Profile and other process items;
- Your measures, information, and improvement systems are complementary across processes and work units; and
- Your plans, processes, results, analyses, learning, and actions are harmonized across processes and work units to support team goals.

California Team Excellence Award (CTEA) Scoring System

In responding to process questions, keep in mind that approach, deployment, learning, and integration are linked. Descriptions of approach should always indicate the deployment consistent with the specific requirements of the item and your team. As processes mature, the description should also show cycles of learning (including innovation), as well as integration with other processes and work units.

Results

Results are the outputs and outcomes your team achieves, which address the requirements in Category 7. The four factors used to evaluate results are Levels, Trends, Comparisons, and Integration (LeTCI). A score for a results item is based on a holistic assessment of your overall performance, considering the four results factors.

Levels (Le) are your current performance on a meaningful measurement scale.

Trends (T) comprise your rate of performance improvement or continuation of good performance in areas of importance (i.e., the slope of data points over time). At least three data points are needed to evaluate a trend.

Comparisons (C) comprise your performance relative to that of other comparable team/projects within your organization or external organizations.

Integration (I) is the extent to which your results harmonize with other parts of your team and/or organization.

How to Respond to the Criteria

These guidelines explain how to respond most effectively to the CTEA Criteria questions.

Responding to Process Items

Understand the meaning of how. In responding to questions in process items that begin with how, give information on your key processes with regard to approach, deployment, learning, and integration (ADLI). Responses lacking such information, or merely providing an example, are referred to in the scoring guidelines as anecdotal information.

Show that approaches are systematic. Systematic approaches are repeatable and use data and information to enable learning. In other words, approaches are systematic if they build in the opportunity for evaluation, improvement, innovation, and knowledge sharing, thereby enabling a gain in maturity.

Show deployment. In your responses, summarize how your approaches are implemented in different parts of your team.

Show evidence of learning. Give evidence of evaluation and improvement cycles for processes, as well as the potential for innovation. Show that process improvements are shared with other appropriate units of your team to enable team learning.

Show integration. Integration is alignment and harmonization among processes, plans, measures, actions, and results. This harmonization generates team effectiveness and efficiencies. Showing alignment in the process items and tracking corresponding measures in the results items should improve team performance. In your responses, show alignment between the team's project and other areas of the organization, such as the profile, strategic planning, workforce, customer and/or stakeholder satisfaction/engagement, etc.

Understand the meaning of what. Two types of questions in process items begin with what. The first requests basic information on key processes and how they work. Although it is helpful to state who performs the work, a description of how the process works is required so that feedback can be offered. The second type of what question asks you to report key findings, plans, objectives, goals, or measures. These questions set the context for showing alignment and integration in your performance management system. For example, when you identify key strategic objectives, your action plans, some performance measures, and some results in category 7 are expected to relate to those strategic objectives.

Responding to Results Items

Report current performance levels (Le) on a meaningful measurement scale.

Report trends (T) to show the directions of results and rates of change in areas of importance. A minimum of three historical data points is generally needed to ascertain a trend. Trends should represent historic and current performance and not rely on projected (future) performance. For important results, include new data even if trends are not yet well established. Explain trends that show a significant beneficial or adverse change.

Report comparisons (C) to show how your results compare with those of other, appropriately selected teams or industry outcomes such as averages or best practice performance.

Describe integration (I) by including all results that are important to your team and segmenting them appropriately (e.g., by customer, workforce, process groups). Results should be reported for all performance measures listed in application.

Responding Efficiently

- Cross-reference when appropriate. Ensure that each item response is as self-contained as possible and that responses to different items are mutually reinforcing. To accomplish this, refer to other responses rather than repeat information.
- Use a compact format. To make the best use of space, use flowcharts, tables, and lists to present information concisely. Page limits are designed to force your team to consider what is most important in managing your project or process and reporting your results.
- Use graphs and tables. You can report many results compactly by using graphs and tables. When you report results over time or compare them with others, "normalize" them (i.e., present them in a way—for example, as ratios—that takes size factors into account. (See Figure below for a sample chart demonstrating LeTCI.)
- Explain your use of terms and nomenclature that are not in common use or are unique to your team, organization, or industry. If you choose the external assessment option, provide a Glossary of Terms to help examiners better understand the context of your application. This Glossary will not be part of the page count.

This figure provides data on a meaningful scale and there is a label to indicate that higher percentages indicate improved performance on the metric. There are three data points available so a trend can be evaluated. A comparison is also provided.
